HARRISBURG, April 12.—Barring another unforeseen hitch, Pennsylvania's destitute are assured of relief until June 1 at least.

Administration and organization leaders agreed upon an emergency $5,000,000 appropriation today.

The $5,000,000 bill will be amended to provide for the $5,000,000 and passed finally by the senate not later than tomorrow. House leaders are pledged to concurrence and Gov. Gifford Pinchot will sign.

E. F. C. To Grant Aid
After agreeing on the emergency appropriation, the governor received assurance by telephone from Fred C. Croxton, assistant to the directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, that a federal loan of $7,000,000 will be granted immediately. Eric Biddle, assistant director of the state emergency relief board will leave for Washington to obtain the money as soon as the $5,000,000 bill is signed.

The amended measure will specify that the money may be used as rapidly as relief needs demand.

"I am greatly delighted that at last we seem to be certain of relief for the rest of April and May," Governor Pinchot commented. "The chances are now that no one will go hungry during April and May."

The $5,000,000 will be appropriated out of the general fund. Six million dollars in savings from the recommendations of the Sterling finance committee will be used to repay the appropriation.

PA NEW C OBSERVES

A squirrel, tame and a pretty little fellow who is probably a member of the Court House family, decided some time ago to reside in a tree on the Aiken school grounds. It has developed that the choice was lack of good judgment and the poor little animal is paying for his mistake, Pa New is told. It seems that some students of the school take delight in trying to hit it with stones, and the squirrel, not understanding that any person would do such a thing intentionally, does not change his location. A resident of the street hopes this will be brought to the attention of the school teachers.

INEZ, Ky., April 12.—John H. Mills, 33, leader of a mountain religious cult was found guilty by a jury in circuit court here of the murder of his 67-year-old mother, Mrs. Lucinda Mills.

He was immediately sentenced to serve life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Ballard Mills, 19-year-old brother of John, and Blaine McGinnis, a brother-in-law, also were found guilty. They were given sentences of 21 years imprisonment each.

The remainder of the defendants were found not guilty.

The verdict of the jury was returned at 10:30 o'clock this morning after 12 hours of deliberation.

Mrs. Mills was slain at the height of a fanatical ceremony conducted by "the tongue cult" in a mountain cabin near here last February. She was made the "sacrifice victim" of the cult. The slaying resulted when the aged woman was bound in chains and placed on an "alter-bed" where she was choked to death while members of the cult, jabbering in the unintelligible language of "the tongue," danced about.

MOSCOW, April 12.—One British and all eleven Russian defendants in the Metropolitan-Vickers, Ltd., sabotage case pleaded guilty today a few hours after their trial opened before a tense crowd of spectators in Moscow's famed "October Hall."

The British prisoner who admitted his guilt was W. H. MacDonald. The other five British defendants entered pleas of not guilty.

The pleas were entered immediately after lengthy indictments returned against the prisoners were read. The indictments revealed a staggering array of charges against the defendants, including espionage, sabotage, bribery, corruption and counter-revolutionary activity.

Five Maintain Innocence.
The five British defendants who stoutly maintained their innocence in the face of the grave charges were Allan Monkhouse, Charles Nerdwell, W. H. Thomson, John Cushman and A. W. Gregory.

All as well as the eleven Russians, are employed by Metropolitan-Vickers, Ltd., a powerful British electrical engineering and manufacturing concern engaged in business in Soviet Russia.

After the pleas were recorded, the court recessed until 6 p. m. Before the trial got under way at (Continued On Page Two)

SCORE STATE RELIEF SYSTEM, AT GREENSBURG

Relief System Is Criticised

Greensburg Taxpayers Ask For Removal Of Emergency Relief Board System

LARGE SALARIES ARE BEING PAID

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., April 12.—A resolution strongly scoring the present system of relief for the needy and unemployed was to be forwarded to members of the legislature today by the Greensburg taxpayers association.

The resolution urges the legislators to vote and work toward eradication of the emergency relief board system and, in its stead, to set up a relief structure whereby relief funds are returned to the counties for distribution.

Salaries Are Big
Pointing out that a grand yearly total of $54,700 in administrative salaries alone is expended under the present system, the resolution says, in part:

"It is also known that there is a large army of clerical employees in the state board headquarters at Harrisburg.

"It is also established when the state board was driven to making a disclosure that there are 2,400 persons now on the payroll in the distribution of relief in this state."

"The resolution concludes with this succinct summation:
"We do not think that any cognizance should be taken of claims made by the state board that these salaries come from federal funds, for any person with plain horse sense knows that it comes from the taxpayers' pockets and is only creating soft berths for a large number of people, as well as setting up the largest department in the state which can be used for political purposes."

water will probably run out before summer, however, unless there is an exceedingly heavy rainfall during the entire spring.

Not in many years has spring been so appealing on the approach of Easter. Trees, bushes, flowers, etc., are just beginning to come out, and the frequent rains have kept the ground fresh and clean.

J. Y. Brewster, who has charge of the enforcement of the provisions of the state act relative to the licensing and use of dogs in Lawrence and Beaver counties for some time past, reported today to Pa. News that a thin covering of ice was frozen on water in buckets at his North Beaver township home during the night. The temperature went down below freezing sufficiently to cause this formation of ice.

Local sportsmen will get behind the suggestion of Charles Withers that the fish game commission of Pennsylvania locate another black bass hatchery in western Pennsylvania. There is only one bass hatchery in this section of Pennsylvania.

Persons who make garden this summer certainly will be glad to know the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will have traps placed so that rabbits can be caught in the city. After being caught they will be released in the county.

Although a heavy deluge of rain occurred yesterday not much debris was washed down paved hills and no serious washouts in dirt streets occurred according to Charles O'Brien, attaché of the city department of streets.

Engineers Transit Reported Stolen

H. E. Milholland today reported to the police that some time during the night that an unknown person or persons had stolen an engineers transit instrument from room 203 in the St. Cloud building. It was in a brown mahogany colored case, about 12 by 12 by 8 inches in size. It is the opinion of the police that the person stealing the instrument did not realize what was taken or have any use for the same and that it will be found abandoned someplace. Any person finding it, should get in touch with the police at once.

Makes Motorboat Trip Over Pymatuning Lake

GREENVILLE, April 12.—Jack Ehrhart of Jamestown is the first person to make a tour over the new Pymatuning lake by motor boat.

Accompanied by Mike Sutherland of Jamestown yesterday, he traveled over five miles north of the dam, and had a channel of one-fourth to one-half a mile in which to navigate.

During the tour he reported ducks in great profusion, estimating the number to be at least 2,500. Ehrhart declared the cruise to be extremely interesting, for sights were encountered by boat which had been seen rarely by travellers afoot, among them a tombstone protruding from the water at one point.

The first navigation on the new lake was made March 30 by Dr. N. H. Bishop and A. L. Crum of Andover, who paddled a canoe from Andover to the dam by a route estimated to be 20 miles long. The trip was made in five hours, and the men stopped en route to broil a steak over a gasoline stove.

The water which a week ago was a mile in width near Andover, had almost entirely disappeared yesterday into the channel, indicating how rapidly the reservoir was draining through the channel where the dam is to be completed. It is unlikely that sufficient water will remain for much canoeing during the present summer.

FIVE ACCUSED BRITISH FACING TRIAL BY SOVIET

noon with a crowd of more than 500 persons, including the diplomatic corps and representatives of the world press, in attendance, the indictments against the accused men were kept secret.

Charges Outlined.

Their reading, however, disclosed the following allegations:
First, that the defendants damaged Soviet plants with the aim of undermining the power of Soviet industry and weakening the Soviet state.

Second, that they collected and utilized secret information of military and state importance.

Third, that they resorted to bribery to corrupt various employees of state electrical stations in the course of executing counter-revolutionary activity of a "wrecking nature."

In addition, the unexpected and startling charge was made that A. G. Richard, export manager of Metropolitan-Vickers in London and an alleged former secret service agent in Russia during the war, had "secretly instructed Monkhouse and Thornton to engage in the activities for which they are being tried."

One Pleads Guilty.

While MacDonald's plea of guilty came as a surprise to the spectators in the courtroom, it was recalled the Soviet government steadfastly refused to release him on bail although the five other British defendants had been liberated on heavy bond. Commencement of the trial at the scheduled hour made good the threat of the Soviet government to proceed with the prosecutions although the British parliament has passed a law empowering the government to place an embargo on Soviet goods in reprisal.

Evidence to be submitted against the British defendants. According to reports, will be based on "confessions" they were alleged to have made while under questioning by the OGPU (Soviet Secret Police) as well as on information given by the various prisoners regarding the activities of their colleagues.

The full report of a committee of Soviet electrical experts which investigated the case also will be submitted. Except for the prisoners themselves, there will be only five witnesses. One is MacDonald's housekeeper and another M. Dolgoff, an official of electro-import.

Unexpected Plea.

MacDonald's unexpected plea was the dramatic high-light of the proceedings.

Pale as death, the 29-year-old Briton, who is tall, slender and fair and wears a neatly trimmed imperial, was the first of the British defendants to be called upon to state his plea.

In a voice which trembled slightly and was barely audible ten feet away, MacDonald muttered "vino-vat" which means guilty.

"Guilty on all charges?" asked the court.

"Yes," responded MacDonald. After a pause which accentuated the perceptible astonishment with which the judge heard the plea, he proceeded to interrogate the remainder of the defendants. All the Russians echoed MacDonald's plea while the remaining five Britons shook their heads and said "ne vino-vat," which means not guilty.

Embarrassing to England.
At conclusion of the interrogations all the accused were taken into a back room pending resumption of the trial.

MacDonald's admission of guilt prior to introduction of evidence was incomprehensible to all observers. It was certain he was not in a position where he was forced to do so.

Attaches of the British embassy maintained a profound silence regarding the development. Observers, however, unanimously agreed the British government was suddenly placed in a most embarrassing position because of its hitherto irreconcilable attitude regarding trial of the accused and its reiterated conviction all were innocent.

MacDonald's sentence is conjecturable, but it was thought likely he would receive a suspended sentence of 5 or 10 years in prison and be deported.

Wiley Recalled

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 12.—Lieutenant Commander Herbert W. Wiley was recalled to the witness stand today before the naval court of inquiry into the Akron disaster and testified that half a dozen different things might have caused the dirigible to go into its final, fatal spin into the sea off Barnegat Light.

Questioned by judge advocate Ralph G. Pennoyer, Commander Wiley said he still was of the opinion that a "descending vertical drop of the second and last time. But, Wiley conceded, there might have been other contributing factors which he named as follows:

- 1.—The ship might have been put in a "stall."
- 2.—Jammed elevator may have taken control.
- 3.—Damaged stabilizers.
- 4.—Breaking of the structure of the ship.
- 5.—Loss of buoyancy from lifting gas by the pulling of a gas valve control wire.

Wiley did not think that a heavy rain load was an important factor. "I do not think the rain was heavy enough to cause an emergency," said the witness.

Pope Pius And German Leaders Converse Today

Vice-Chancellor Von Papen And Wilhelm Goering Nazi Minister Visit Pope

POPE SPEAKS ON PERSECUTIONS

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, April 12.—The tenet of Christianity which inveighs against religious persecution was extolled by Pope Pius XI today in lengthy conversations with Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen and Captain Hermann Wilhelm Goering of Germany.

It is one of the greatest Christian traditions, the pontiff said in talking with Goering, Nazi minister without portfolio and Chancellor Hitler's "right hand man," to abandon every act of persecution against followers of different faiths.

No Specific Comment.

While the Vatican refused specific comment, it was generally believed the pontiff was referring to the Nazi party's campaign against Jews in Germany.

Accompanied by his wife, Von Papen spent half an hour with the pope in the pontiff's private library at the Vatican. At the end of their talk, the pope presented Von Papen with a medal and gave his wife a rosary.

Immediately afterward, Goering spent half an hour with the pontiff and then conversed for another 30 minutes with Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

Grangers Will Boycott Stores Handling Beer

(International News Service)

BROOKVILLE, Pa., April 12.—Grangers of Jefferson and Clarion counties were definitely on record today as opposed to patronizing stores purveying the newly legalized 3.2 per cent beer.

A resolution at a booster meeting here last night recording the grangers' opposition to such patronization was passed unanimously.

Fishermen Hope Water Goes Down

Anglers are watching the Ne-shannock creek and other streams in Lawrence county and are hopeful that the high water caused by yesterday and last night's rain will recede rapidly.

Although high water has tended to wash out pollution in streams where it may exist veteran anglers claim trout fishing will not be good if the water is high.

Trout season starts Saturday and no doubt there will be an army of fishermen hiding behind trees when the dawn breaks. Last year results were not very good on the opening day.

According to one young fisherman angling was not so bad yesterday. He was seen travelling to his home on the West Side yesterday evening. He had quite a nice catch of catfish.

AMERICAN FILMS ABROAD

WRITING recently in the Sunday Times of London, Sydney W.

Carroll made this comment on American screen work:
"I cannot understand why the American people continue to allow the wholesale export of unpleasant films that advertise her to the world as a country comprised entirely of crooks, loose women and half-wits. Surely the circulation of such American pictures as are shown in London this week must not only do our own audiences infinite moral injury, but proclaim a barrenness of decency almost unbelievable in any nation?"

"Take the picture 'Flesh,' at the Empire, as one example. The only honest people in this story are Germans or Russians. All the Yankees in it are twisters, both male and female.

"Then as another example of American criminality, as thrilling as it is revolting. I have to commend 'Under Cover Man' at the Plaza. As a gangster yarn it has its points, but here again is a picture of New York life that makes it appear a place far more dangerous than the deadliest jungle. We experience one Long orgy of knifing, shooting and bumping off."

The criticism is deserved. American producers have notoriously loaded England and other countries down with sensational screen plays which, while we at home can make allowances for their extravagances and laugh at their absurdities because of good acting, are received gravely abroad says the Philadelphia Inquirer. This is not a country overrun by gangsters, killers, bomb-throwers and men and women devoid of decency and honor, yet that is the impression left upon foreign audiences.

It is to be hoped that a screen play now running under the title of "Gabriel Over the White House" will never cross the seas. We here can laugh at its absurdities by way of entertainment, but other countries can't do that. They would be apt to take it too seriously and wonder what sort of a government we have in the United States and what sort of a Constitution it is that can be destroyed offhand by one man in the White House.

LIGHTNING

Supplementing the forecasts of the goose-bone prophets and almanac weather readings, some long-distance meteorological readings have appeared this year from a source new to the weather-conscious. These new seers of the storm are electrical engineers.

Because they are primarily interested in electrical disturbances and their effects, these engineers devote their forecast to the country's thunder and lightning prospects for the summer of 1933.

Nor are these prospects, as they see them, bright, except that the lightning will brighten things up pretty much of the time. The prediction is for a reason of heavy thunderstorms and intense lightning.

Charts and records maintained for a number of years are the basis of this horrendous augury. They seem to reveal a definite cycle in three-year periods, during which thunderstorms attain a maximum of intensity. The first year of the three is said to be "very bad," the second is average and the third is nearly free from serious electrical storm.
In the fourth the cycle begins again with a summer of severe disturbances. And this, it seems, is the unpleasant beginning of another cycle.

Through all the charts and the law of averages may call for a dunder-und-blitzen summer of abnormal proportions, this is no guarantee of trouble for electrical engineers and disappointment for pic-nickers. The charts may show three degrees, but to the lightning-awed on summer seems little different from the rest in this particular.

GOLD IS BEST

During these days of dislocated finance, many persons are doubtful whether the world will ever again return to the gold standard. Others have convinced themselves, perhaps, that it would be better to abandon gold altogether for monetary purposes. Tying with the idea of "managed currency" has been a widespread pastime.

But among practical financiers, no such doubts or notions prevail. In a perfect world, they admit, gold would probably not be required as the basis for currency. But humanity, being what it is, demands something concrete for its money to rest upon. And nothing better than gold has been discovered.

Mr. Leon Frazer, who for the next three years will be president of the Bank for International Settlements at Basel, was asked the usual question—whether the countries of gold would return to more orthodox ways. He answered: "We are convinced that gold is the best international monetary standard, that those countries that are off are desirous of returning to this standard as soon as conditions permit."

The idea that countries go off the gold basis of their own free will has gained considerable attention. The simple fact is that none has taken this step until forced to do so. And all will be glad to go back "as soon as conditions permit."—The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

REACHING THE PEOPLE

A large bank figures out that you can have printed an advertisement one inch deep in all the 1913 daily papers in the United States for a measly $600.

Their combined sales reach 36,000,000.

A message to that audience for $600 looks like a gnat's breakfast, compared with the cost of sending a letter to each of 36,000,000 buyers.

A three-cent stamp on each letter would tax you over a million dollars, while paper, envelope and labor of addressing the same would add hundreds of thousands of dollars to the cost.

Yes, the printed ad is not only the smartest salesman, but it works for a slave's wage.

Life is what you make it instead of what you make.

A hick town is a place where the few citizens willing to serve the public without pay are cursed for trying to run things.

"Operation cures criminal mind," says a headline. And we've seen a conservative changed to a radical by having his income cut off.

It won't be long now until Chicago centennial exposition backers experience the feeling common to home town boosters who went too far.

LESSONS TO BE LEARNED

"Have you been studying the science of efficiency?"

"Yes, but I had to quit because I got so interested that I found it interfering with my regular work."

"THE BEST BUTTER"

I went to the bookshelf and found Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" and I turned the pages until I came to the chapter about the mad tea party—and there I read about the March hare and the Hatter having tea under the tree and using the sleeping Dormouse for a cushion.

When they saw Alice they cried:
"No room! No room!" but she sat down, anyway because there was plenty of room and she was hungry and they shouldn't have been so rude.

They ate and told riddles which had no answers, and they argued and then the party sat silent for a minute—and here's what I'm trying to lead up to:

"The Hatter was the first to break the silence. 'What day of the month is it?' he said, turning to Alice! he had taken his watch out of his pocket and was looking at it uneasily, shaking it every now and then and holding it to his ear.

"Alice considered a little and then said: 'The Fourth.'

"Two days wrong!" sighed the Hatter. 'I told you butter wouldn't suit the works!' he added looking angrily at the March Hare.

"It was the BEST butter," the March Hare replied.
"The March Hare took the watch and looked at it gloomily; then he dipped it into his cup of tea and looked at it again; but he could think of nothing better to say than his first remark. 'It was the BEST butter, you know.'"

And THERE you are! And here's the moral!...Many a time things have gone wrong with me. Many a time I've mused up my life. So often, with the best intentions in the world, I've interfered in other's lives and suffered for my interference. Irritated people and brought confusion and rebuke upon my head. And more times than I can remember I've excused myself by saying "I MEANT well! I THOUGHT I was doing the right thing."

I used the best BUTTER, didn't I? The very BEST butter there was to be had? So I should my well-meant intentions in other people's affairs have turned out so badly.
So disastrously!...I was so sorry
....But I still use the very best butter and I still don't understand
....Perhaps YOU do.

Immediate Railroad Action Put Strongly Before Nation

President's Concern Over Needs Of Companies And Shippers Is Shared By Those Who Have Studied Present Transportation Conditions

Public opinion is behind the belie, indicated by President Roosevelt, that prompt action is needed to preserve the transportation system of the country. Overcapitaliza-tion and costly competition have been recognized for a long time, and the present demand for lower rates is considered a legitimate while wage conditions offer a further problem.
Some observers hold that the chief function of the railways is public service, rather than maintaining dividends or providing work, and supporters of this position call for reorganization on that basis. Bankruptcies are seen in the new bankruptcy law

Two More Bills For Convention Are Introduced

McClure And Harris Introduce Bills, No Attempt To Override Pinchot's Veto

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 12.—Defeated by the governor's veto in one attempt to set up constitutional convention machinery for action on proposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment, senators today speeded action on substitute measures.
Senators John J. McClure, Delaware, whose bill was vetoed, and Frank J. Harris, Allegheny, introduced two convention bills Tuesday, both providing for the election of delegates at large.

McClure's bill calls for 15 delegates, while Harris specifies 50. The governor inferred he might countermand such a selection of delegates although he preferred representation according to senatorial districts.

Introduction of the measures was taken as a strong indication that no attempt will be made to override the veto of McClure's first bill. After a canvass of both houses, it was decided the necessary two-third majority for overriding a veto was not immediately available.

Appomattox Dinner Honors Veterans

Commemoration Of The Close Of The Civil War Is Purpose Of Dinner Tuesday

Appomattox Day fell on Sunday, April 9, this year and the celebration of the event of Lee's Surrender to Grant, marking the close of the Civil War, was celebrated by the Ladies of the G. A. R. with a dinner for the Civil War Veterans in the City Building, Tuesday.

Long tables were arranged with tulips as the centerpiece, and places were laid for almost one hundred.
Commander D. M. Clark, H. G.
Sharp, A. R. Kerr, R. H. Wilson and I. H. Cooper, members of Post

100 G. A. R. of New Castle were the honored veterans, with Mrs. Savilla Barge and Mrs. Amelia McConnell, widows of veterans, also as guests.
Mrs. Catherine Knee, president of the Sharon Ladies of the G. A. R., Mrs. Eva Miller, senior vice; Mrs.
Ina Darling, president of the Youngstown, Ohio ten and Mrs.
Rosa Robbins, senior vice, with twenty-six members of the tents, were special guests.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne was one of the after-dinner speakers and he congratulated the women upon their honoring the veterans and in speaking to the veterans he said he promised the day brought back many memories of the horrors of the war as well as the happiness brought at its close, sixty-eight years ago.

W. D. Parks, of Company K of the Sons of Veterans, was also a guest and he spoke briefly, lauding the bravery of these men who went out in '61 and fought so valiantly for the preservation of the union.
Mrs. Florence Gillespie, president of the local tent, called upon the officers from the Youngstown and Sharon delegations, who spoke words of praise for the veterans and the women for carrying on the memories of these noble men.

The splendid dinner was arranged by Mrs. Margaret Hammond and her efficient committee.

Hundreds Of New Books At Library

Nearly 900 Volumes Added To City Public Library Last Month

There are exactly 895 books at the New Castle free public library that were not there before March, 1933.
is a fact from Miss Alice Sterling's report to the library board Tuesday night. These new books were added during that month.
Of the 895, 845 were purchased, 44 were added by gift and six by subscription. A total of 890 were catalogued.

During the month of March it was necessary to discard 391 books from circulation.
USE READING ROOMS
Reading room attendance at the New Castle free public library reached 3,464 during the month of March, Miss Alice Sterling, states.
The majority of the people using the rooms for their reading were adults, 2,587. Juvenile department rooms were used by 877.

Circulation Jump At Local Library

Over 9 Percent Gain In Number Of Books Borrowed, Report Shows

That more people used the public library last month than in the same month of the previous year is noted by Miss Alice Sterling in her March statement to the library board of trustees.

The circulation gained 9.2 per cent, the adult 15.6 per cent and the juvenile one-half of one per cent.
South Side branch library lost 10 per cent. All other points gained as follows: Main library 19.2 per cent, Mahoningtown 9 per cent and East Side 3 per cent.

An idea of the number of public library books moving from reader to reader throughout the city can be obtained from the following figures:
Circulation for month 38,178
Adult fiction 19,777
Adult non-fiction 3,058
Foreign 516
Total adult 23,351
Juvenile fiction 10,136
Juvenile non-fiction 4,691
Total juvenile 14,827
Branch circulation 17,347

"I walk 6 miles a day on my job—stoop down dozens of times!"

says ANN MAHER, New York waitress

"My stockings used to give out in no time—go into runs or holes at the heels, until ...

"... I learned how to save my stockings. Another girl who used to have the same trouble told me the reason my stockings wore out so quickly was because I rubbed the life out of the silk with cake soap. 'Why don't you use Lux?' she asked me. 'It keeps the silk elastic so it gives when you bend, and stands a lot of strain.'

"So I tried a little experiment. I took two pairs of stockings, washed one pair every night the Lux way—the other I rubbed with cake soap. In four days I had a run and worn places in the heels of the cake-soap stockings. I've worn the Lux stockings fifteen days and they're still like new.

"I save lots of money on stockings now that I Lux them every night."

Miss Maher's 2-minute way

1. Use one teaspoon of Lux for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water, squeeze suds through stockings, and rinse well.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali, which weakens threads, fades color. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Mrs. E. M. Schellenger says
—"With 1 box of LUX
I washed 330 items ...

48 pairs socks and stockings
12 pieces silk lingerie
62 child's wooden undies
83 diapers, pads, blankets
34 towels, washcloths, bibs
9 child's rompers, sweaters, cap
47 napkins, doilies
35 handkerchiefs and I did the dishes 21 times for a family of six."

Wampum Bus Co. Seeks Permit

Asks Right To Operate Bus To West Pittsburgh—No Protest

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Necessity of public transportation requires the issuance of a certificate of public convenience to the Wampum Bus Company, witnesses said today in a hearing on the application of the concern for permission to operate between New Castle and the intersections of state routes 18 and 470.

The application was not protested. Requested discontinuance of the shuttle train operated by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad between New Castle and New Castle Junction will leave the district without means of public transportation between the two points.

less the certificate is issued, Public Service Commission Examiner Garfield J. Phillips was told.

The certificate requested would permit the Wampum Bus Company to operate a line between New Castle and New Castle Junction and Moravia, near West Pittsburgh, along route 470, a distance of six miles.

L. C. Houk, West Pittsburgh school board member, informed the commission that the bus operations will supply transportation for high school students in that section who attend New Castle high school. Houk said:

"The necessity for transporting high school students is very great. In addition to that there are hundreds of people who are prospective customers of the proposed route. I think it is necessary that the commission issue a certificate for passenger carrying."

Senate To Act On School Bill

Showdown Scheduled For Educational Bill Sponsored By Rep. Wilson

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 12.—The first of a series of educational bills sponsored by Rep. T. B. Wilson, McKean, was scheduled for a showdown on final passage in the senate today.

While the measure, permitting a salary reduction of approximately 10 per cent for school teachers, neared the end of its rough journey, a house committee studied two of the other bills. A third, designed to effect economies by reducing the appropriation for the transportation of students to $2,500,000 was defeated in the lower branch.

One of the recommended bills would temporarily restrict the amount of the reimbursements to school districts for vocational and continuation schools while the other would reduce the reimbursement for salaries of full time members of the teaching staffs engaged in special education.

Commandery Will Be Held Sunday Evening At 7:30

The annual Easter day service for Lawrence Commandery No. 62, Knights Templar, will be held at Trinity church, corner of North Mill and East Falls streets, next Sunday at 7:30 p. m. All Sir Knights visiting in the city are cordially invited and asked to wear full uniform. Friends and relatives of all Sir Knights will be especially welcome. Like all services, this one is for the people who usually worship in Trinity church and for the general public.

A special program printed in two colors has been arranged for the occasion and through the courtesy of Lawrence Commandery will be distributed to all attending. Under the direction of Eminent Sir Percy D. Weiss, commander, the full ceremonial of the Knights Templar church service will be carried out, including the arches of the processional and recessional, and the presentation of swords while the Apostles' Creed is recited.

Eminent Sir Edwin C. McComb, prelate of Lawrence Commandery, will recite in full regalia and read the Scriptures and offer the prayers of the Knights Templar.

The special musical program under the direction of Paul B. Patterson and rendered by the senior choir of the church will include an elaborate setting to the Magnificat and Nunc dimittis by W. A. C. Crickshank in G, heard for the first time in New Castle.

The Rev. Philip C. Pearson, rector of Trinity church, will preach a special sermon for the occasion.

A service in Trinity church attended by Lawrence Commandery is always a colorful and notable occasion.

Rev. Margaret Joshua Will Speak Tonight

Rev. Margaret Joshua will be the speaker this evening at the Holy Week services, which are being conducted in the Croton Methodist church. Her subject will be "Seeing Jesus."

Tuesday evening Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, gave a scholarly evangelistic sermon.

Filibuster Threat By Labor Expected Will Bring Results

Hope To Force Committee Action On Bills Pertaining To Labor Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 12.—Labor's filibuster to force committee action on bills in which it is interested was expected to bring results today.

According to an announcement by Speaker Talbot, the bills are to be referred to the committee on labor for motions to discharge committees from further consideration of bills which labor organization members and others in the house are attempting to have enacted into law.

The filibuster, started yesterday, ended abruptly when a resolution from the house rules committee fixed for the remainder of the day a program of business which did not provide for motions or resolutions to discharge committees. The house adopted the rules committee's proposal and no further efforts to check the routine work of the house were made.

To guard against any attempt today to stop work on the calendar, the speaker announced a plan to allow time during which members would be given an opportunity to move for the discharge of committees which are holding their favorite legislation.

Mercer County Tax Question Before Court

Man Fights Tax Penalty Assessed By Mercer Co., Amount Is Only
$16.80

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Whether interest on tax penalties is collectable was the question confronting the superior court here today in the appeal of James Hamilton under advisement.

Hamilton, owner of a 106-acre farm in Wolf Creek township, Mercer county, defaulted on taxes due for 1930 and 1931. Finally paying the taxes in 1932 he was required to pay interest on the five per cent penalty assessed when defaulted at the rate of one per cent a month. Hamilton paid the penalty levy under protest. The penalty and interest amounted to $16.80 on the 1930 penalty of $4.25, $2.00 in interest was paid and on the $4.40 in 1931 penalty, 15 cents interest was required.

In an endeavor to recollect the $16.80 from the county treasurer, Hamilton instituted a suit for the amount in Mercer county common pleas court. The suit named George W. Lawrence, county treasurer, as defendant.

The lower court, in an opinion by Judge J. A. McLaughry, ruled in favor of the county. The appeal argued before the superior court was taken from this decision.

Thus Jeff Houston, Monongahela riverman, is in the news today. He quit his job as deckhand on the river steamer Collier.

Jeff explained: "I just couldn't stand washing my hands with them sharp edges on a new bar of soap."

SEEK PROLONGING OF STATE MILK PRICE PROBE

Milk Producers Favor Plans To Continue Probe

Propose Continuing Of Committee Probing Milk Conditions For Two Years

CLAIM OHIO IS DUMPING MILK

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 12.—Proposed continuation of the joint legislative committee investigating milk producing marketing conditions in Pennsylvania for a two-year period drew the support of dealers and producers throughout the commonwealth today.

John S. McConnell, representing producers from eleven Central Pennsylvania counties, supported the continuation bill introduced by Clarence J. Buckman, Bucks, but urged that the appropriation be increased from $25,000 to $100,000. McConnell also made numerous recommendations for committee study as a basis of grafting milk legislation.

Suggests Board
Testifying before the Buckman committee, he urged the establishment of a regulation board of three members to be appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate, the secretary of agriculture, secretary of health, director of the bureau of markets, and a deputy attorney general to have complete control of milk producing and marketing. Another proposal would make it unlawful for any state employee charged with the enforcement of laws pertaining to milk to have any connection with its production or distribution.

The large importation of milk from Ohio was blamed for the low milk prices in Western Pennsylvania by H. B. Steele, an official of the Dairyman's Co-Operative Sales Association of Pittsburgh. He pointed out that Ohio has no natural outlet for its milk and as a result it is poured into Western Pennsylvania at prices far below average.

Great Crowd Listens To Shaw's Utterances In Only U. S. Speech

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 12.—George Bernard Shaw, political prophet, social surgeon, and philosophical showman, today chalked up another notch on his shotgun.

The Irish playwright had fired a brilliant shavian barrage at close range into the American people in his first, only and probably last address in this country.

While the Statute of Liberty averted her face to the titanic cabin aboard the Liner Empress of Britain occupied by the world's first scoffer, he prepared to sail for home at noon today.

Shaw told the overflow audience in the Metropolitan Opera House: "You put up in New York Harbor a monstrous idol which you called Liberty. And there it is, and the only thing that remains to complete that statue is to put on its pedestal the inscription: 'All Hope Abandon Ye Who Enter Here.'"

The Irish lion of wit analyzed the evolution of an American, termed all human animals anarchists at heart, flogged the American constitution, but granted that the American nation might save the human race.

He joshed at Hollywood although rating sex appeal an admirable quality; and recommended communism, his pet political hobbyhorse, as well as a revolution for the United States.

For the most part, the world-famous critic with the picturesque beard of 77 controversial winters and summers dispensed with the epigrams for which he is popularly famous far more than for his profundity of thought.

It was a provocative but serious address. It was mellowed with whimsical phrases rather than spiced with the bite which in the past accompanied the shavian bark. It had less shavian paradoxes running through it and more of the human charity for which the noted writer displays to his intimates. Of course, the audience, come for a show rather than to hear a discourse on political science, laughed frequently in the wrong places.

But when Shaw concluded his historic digest of the world's ills a Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey or George M. Cohen could not have received a more enthusiastic outburst of applause.

Shaw suggested a new constitution for the United States to be based upon its modern needs, advocated wiping off all war debts, nationalizing the banks and destroying the power of our financiers.

He called on the United States to lead the way in saving present civilization from going the road to ruin of previous civilizations.

He pictured the 100 per cent American of the past as being supplanted by a new type. This type might develop into a "100 per cent statesman" and pull the world out of the ditch, he said.

"I think Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a type of that, rather," said Shaw. "I think my friend, Mr. William Randolph Hearst, is rather a type of it. The reason I mention these two gentlemen is not only because they are pretty good specimens of what I mean but because the symptom of the change is that they are both very violently against the constitution."

Shaw warned that President Roosevelt by the end of his term would be as "great a disappointment as Mr. Hoover," unless he was able to govern without interference from congress and the constitution.

Blind Charlie Is Hoping For Happy Easter

Familiar Figure Downtown Will Have Real Dinner If Money Comes In

Charlie Thomas, who has been a familiar figure at the corner of Mill and Washington streets ever since becoming blind 35 years ago, is looking forward to a happy Easter day at his Sheep Hill home. This can be possible if his friends remember him when passing.

To have his home cleaned and to have a good dinner for Easter is Charlie's hope.

Charlie is the last of his family. His father, who was blinded in the same explosion at a local quarry in 1898, and his mother, who was for many years a cripple, are both gone. Charlie has had to depend on charity for many years.

Roosevelt Opposes Plank Reform Bill

President Is Cool Toward Federal Guarantee Plan, Glass Reports

New Banking Reform Bill Virtually Doomed, Wood- in Lines Up With Roosevelt

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Roosevelt's surprising coolness toward a federal guarantee of deposits in federal reserve member banks today virtually doomed the new banking reform bill, drafted by the senate banking and currency committee after a two-year study.

The president opposed present enactment of the guarantee—in the form of an "insurance fund"—during a conference with Secretary of the Treasury Woodin and Senator Glass (D) of Virginia, author of the bill. Later, it was announced at the White House that Mr. Roosevelt had an "open mind" on the subject but congressional leaders declared he had expressed opposition to the deposit guarantee.

Roosevelt Opposes. Aside from this, the president was opposed to legalizing branch banking by member banks in states, granting the privilege to state banks. Mr. Roosevelt also was reported as coinciding with Secretary Woodin's opposition to prohibiting payment of interest on demand deposits, and to divorcing banks from their business affiliates within five years.

With the president and his treasury head opposed to the four major provisions of the new reform bill, it appeared the measure had little chance of enactment.

Glass told his colleagues privately he had sponsored the guarantee of bank deposits only at the president's suggestion. He could advance no reason for the president's purported change of attitude.

Baseball Season Officially Opens

Big League Teams Go Into Action With Total Crowd Of 200,000 Looked For

Drastic Salary Cuts, Sprinkling Of Stars And Improved Teams Make Appearance

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 12.—Once they called it the great American tonic. But that was because the great American system was so violently robust at the time that health became common and vulgar. Later, they pointed to it as the panacea that would take the peoples' minds off their troubles but that didn't turn out so well, either, certain adjustments being necessary. They kept their troubles and all they lost was the mind.

Anyhow, for better or worse, professional baseball, the game of by and sometimes for the people, is coming back to play to its public again today. It will formally launch its 1933 season in eight major league cities and how great its public may be, no one at this moment can say.

Look For Crowds.
A minimum of 200,000 is earnestly hoped for, but public demonstrations depend upon the attraction, the weather—and the public. The attraction is as good as ever, possibly better. Teams have been shifted almost promiscuously, the players themselves are somehow deemed to have been imbued and inspired by drastic salary cuts and, besides, the opening day show is always good. They've even persuaded the president of the United States to throw out the first ball and the vice-president to run up the flag in Washington.

The weather is not so good. Generally fair, is the prediction through the middle west but there is a possibility that the entire program in the east may be rained out.

As for the public, a response that might be otherwise generous is somewhat cramped by circumstances. These are such that some are darkly apprehensive of baseball's future but advance sales have been good and indications of better business have been reflected in that intangible quantity roughly characterized as fan-interest.

Yanks Favored.
The bumper crowd of the day is expected at the Yankee stadium, where, weather permitting, upward of 50,000 will see the world's champions unveiled in the company of the Boston Red Sox. The Yanks are the shortest price in modern baseball history, 2 to 5 on the nose and, if the season does nothing else, it may provide in this case one of the monuments upsets of years.

However, the season figures to do plenty of things. It will be the Giants' first in thirty-two years without John J. McGraw. It doubtless will be the last that Ruth will know as a regular. It will show Hornsby back with the Cardinals and Al Simmons in the garb of the White Sox. It already has established something of a record for off-season trading and short cuts to petty economies. And with all of this, it is expected to bring back the punch of the old time atmosphere, with 3.2 beer on the side.

Cheerful Outlook.
In spite of their short price, the Yanks can figure on plenty of fight from the Athletics and Senators and more resolute opposition all the way down through the league. Meanwhile, the National League event is as open as an orator's mouth, with the Pirates generally favored over the champion Cubs; so, competitively, it doesn't seem as though the situation can go wrong.

Indeed, Mr. Heydler and Mr. Harbridge have been at some pains to speak reassuringly of this. But it is well to remember that they are paid about $30,000 a year to be noticeably cheerful, so maybe they're only trying to do a good faithful job.

Still, I've always felt that, at the money, they ought to be able to make it.

Schedule For Today.
New York, April 12.—Here is the schedule for the opening major league games today:

American League.
Boston at New York.
Philadelphia at Washington.
Cleveland at Detroit.
Chicago at St. Louis.

National League.
New York at Boston.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.
St. Louis at Chicago.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Morrie (Kid) Suber, light-heavyweight mat artist will meet Don Wolfe of Campbell in a 30 minute time match Thursday night at Youngstown. Suber has been grappling steadily during the last few weeks. He has won himself a crowd of supporters in Ohio. He's training hard here and hopes to pin Wolfe to the mat.

If there is good weather Saturday no doubt there will be several baseball games and it is a certainty that some of the Lawrence County Twilight Baseball league clubs will hold a practice session. Managers should remember that all scores must be in the office of The News the day the game is played.

Although the year is young many horsemen are predicting that Johnnie Gilbert, 1932 national jockey champion will retain his laurels. He booted 212 winners under the wire last year for the highest mark in the past five seasons. He was the winning rider at Hialeah park. He landed first 36 mounts.

What's this? Dock Snell coming back! According to reports from Seattle the lightweight has engaged in 25 fights since he hit the comeback trail and has won 23 of the 25. The report, however, doesn't say whom the fistic doctor has fought. Very few come back with any degree of success.

S. Johnson Poe. First of the six Poe brothers of Baltimore who for two decades brought delight to Princeton supporters with their football prowess, is dead. He passed away at Washington Monday night. There are four brothers left, John P. Poe having been killed with the Black Watch regiment of Scotland in France in 1915.

Max Baer, curly-headed young Californian, has taken on considerable weight. When he stripped to weigh in at New York City yesterday he weighed exactly 230 pounds. Jack Dempsey, promoter of the proposed Baer-Schmeling fight, has pronounced Max as one of the biggest, best looking young heavyweights he has seen. The Schmeling-Baer clash is listed for New York in June.

Jim Browning, 220, last night defeated Ed (Strangler) Lewis, 265, in one hour, three minutes and 32 seconds with a turnover scissors at Chicago. It was the last show of the season in Chicago.

Young Corbett's welterweight championship will be at stake May 20 when Jimmy McLarnin meets Corbett at Wrigley field, Chicago. The champion will receive a flat guarantee of $35,000 with a percentage of the gate receipts if the gate goes over $100,000.

Church and educational organizations yesterday at Harrisburg protested against a proposal to make horse racing legal in Pennsylvania. Spokesmen criticized the Baldi-Peters bill which would allow pari-mutuel betting and provide revenue for the mothers assistance fund. The bill was discussed at a hearing before the house ways and means committee. Foes of the measure claim the morality of the state would be destroyed if the bill becomes law.

Orr Team Will Meet Thursday

The Orr baseball team will hold a practice session at Centennial field at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon it was announced today. Following the practice there will be an important meeting at the Orr bakery of all the players. The meeting will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock.

The Orr team plans to enter the Twilight league this year and plans are under way to put in a fast combination. The following are asked to report for practice Thursday afternoon: Logan, Smith, Fitch, Patterson, Majeski, Shaw, Price, Rodenbaugh, Bigley, Seward, Gunnnett, Gall, Soveski, Severa, Leckwert, De Lone, Vallely, Redman, Carr, Schaas, Wochner and Rech.

CUT OF TWO MILLS MADE IN TAX LEVY

SHARON, Pa., April 12.—City council has approved a new ordinance fixing the municipal tax levy for 1933 at 12 mills, a reduction of two mills from the rate set earlier in the year. Final action on the measure will be taken Saturday.

The action to reduce the levy follows the city's victory in a supreme court fight over the right to set a 14-mill rate and was taken, according to Mayor Thomas and the other solons to afford the greatest measure of relief possible under existing economic conditions.

Joe Savoldi Suspended For Recent Fiasco With Jim London

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 12.—Wrestling throughout the commonwealth of Illinois was finally laid to rest today after a posthumous exhibition in the Coliseum last night in which Jim Browning pinned Ed. "The Strangler" Lewis with a scissors. Browning took an hour and three minutes to conquer Lewis.

The Illinois Athletic Commission suspended the grunt and groan industry for an indefinite period Monday after investigating the surprising victory which Joe Savoldi scored over Jim London, the so-called heavyweight champion.

Savoldi Suspended. Louisville, Ky., April 12.—The National Wrestling Association today ordered the suspension of Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star who defeated Jim London at Chicago last Friday night.

Karl Malone, secretary of the association, said the suspension was in response to a request by Indiana Athletic officials who charged that Savoldi had failed to fulfill a scheduled bout with Pat O'Shocker at Evansville, Ind., last Monday night.

Opening Date And Schedule Will Be Adopted By Golfers

TWELVE TEAMS NOW ENROLLED

With twelve teams enrolled, only a few minor details have to be worked out before the season opens for the New Castle Golf League. Plans have been made to pry the lid off during the early part of May. With Daylight Saving time effective April 30, this will be possible, officers of the league stated today.

Addition of a team to represent the Legion of Honor will round out a league of twelve teams, and a meeting will be held in the near future, when rules governing play will be adopted. The schedule will also be drawn up in the near future. Added zest will be imparted to the play this year, through the donation of a cup to the team winning the title by Jack Gerson, local jeweler, who is also sponsoring a team in the league.

The league will play once a week, using the Castle Hill and Municipal courses on the same evening. Thursday has been decided upon as the meeting night of the league, when they will match drives, approaches and putts.

The teams entered in the league are: East Side Service Station, Pennsylvania Power, Pennsylvania R. R., Bell Telephone, New Legion of Honor, Gersons, Reynolds, Summers, and McCann, Blair Strip Steel, Riecks, Dentists and Shenango Tin.

Rainy Weather Halts Gridders

New Castle And Union High Squads Get Rest As Result Of Rain

The rain of Tuesday was a welcome respite for the young football candidates of New Castle High and Union High and spring training yesterday was reduced to chalk board talks by the coaches.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh gave his New Castle boys a rest from the strenuous training exercises. The field was sloppy from an all day rain and not fit for practice.

Practice Resumed
Practice will be resumed today with a lot of warm sunshine prevailing. The New Castle team is shaping up fine this year. Coach Bridenbaugh has not started his varsity team for the opening spring game with Canton McKinley, but will likely have such veterans as the Shelloge brothers, Palkovitch, Nickum, Captain Komico, Ridley, Raskowski and others in the lineup. Several of the new boys out for the team this year have possibilities and New Castle is looking for the same well balanced team that "Bridy" sent to the top last year.

Union At Work
Coach David M. Boyd out at Union is bringing his Unionites along slowly. The Union team this fall will have a lot of green material. Coach Boyd is carefully looking over a number of young recruits with the expectation of using them as regulars when the fall grind begins.

Union faces one of the toughest schedules in the history of the school starting in September and it was this outlook that made Coach Boyd hit upon the spring grid training for the Union team for the first time in the history of the school. The venture is proving a worthy one and will be continued in the future, it is indicated.

Rules Laid Down For Ball Players

President Heydler Of National League Lays Down Hard And Fast Rules

Wants Players To Give Best; No Mingling With Opposing Team

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 12.—Baseball is not coming back. It is back, Mr. William Harbridge and Mr. John A. Heydler, respective presidents of the American and National leagues, said insistently and in chorus today in ante-mortem statements on the eve of the 1933 pennant races.

Nevertheless and sharply in contrast to this view, Mr. Heydler has broken all precedent this morning by authorizing what he terms a "personal appeal" for sustained effort on the ball field during a season which, he says, baseball's popularity will be "put to the acid test." The message was addressed "to the players of the national league" and presumably was delivered to them in the mails today.

"Never before have we faced more stringent money conditions," it says in one passage, darkly.

Rules Laid Down
While tacitly deferred to as an appeal, the document is almost a peremptory demand that players be (A) absent from opposing dugouts and from opposing players on the field; (B) absent from opposing club houses off the field; (C) vigorous in running out all hits no matter what the score; (D) enthusiastic and cheerful; (E) alert and interested.

In other words, the young men are ordered to be happy until it hurts. However, John calls it an appeal and, since we all make mistakes, this may be mine.

Meanwhile, his official prediction is for the "most prosperous year in baseball since the depression started," because, as I got it, business is picking up and ball players are bearing down, simultaneously and in the order named. He also spoke approvingly of beer.

Not to be outdone, Mr. Harbridge spoke approvingly of beer. Now that we have had the depression start, considered unfashionable. Human nature is notoriously perverse and diverse, so before that it wasn't divergent to do anything but drink it.

Balanced Race
"We'll have a balanced race in the American league for the first time in years," Mr. Harbridge went on. "We'll also have better business, for every indication points to an impending return to prosperity."

Off-season trades, he said, had brought about a balance of power that insured an increase in competition and, therefore, in fan-interest.

"The White Sox are better with Simmons, Haas and Dykes," he said. "That can't miss. The Browns have improved themselves and are imbued with a new hustling spirit. We have very strong clubs in Philadelphia, Washington and Cleveland and a strong club in Detroit."

The Yankees won impressively in 1932 and cleaned up the world series in four straight games, yet no champion of the last ten years faced a harder time than they will in trying to repeat. Even the Red Sox have excellent pitching and more than average hitting.

Pirates Are Hot
The Pirates, according to Mr. Heydler, will do well at the pay windows because they're a hot pennant choice in what promises to be a none too regular race. The Cubs, it seems, can't go wrong, particularly with Babe Herman. With the Cardinals, it will be great pitching and the return of Hornsby. With the Giants "new faces, new names."

He described interest in Philadelphia, Boston and Cincinnati as being "hot." As for Brooklyn --- "A crowd of 22,000 at a mere exhibition is answer enough," he said, almost patronizingly.

In other words, outside of the fact that there is very little money and baseball is facing the "acid test" that may directly affect the livelihood of the players, "everything is just splendid."

Thirty Five Men In Grid Squad

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 12.—A squad of 35 men have been selected by Coach John Lawther at Westminster College since Monday afternoon, and despite warm weather, the spring grid drills are creating plenty of interest. With 14 veteran lettermen, and six others with experience, the squad looks good in its drills. Lawther hopes to continue the afternoon workouts for at least three weeks.

Legion Of Honor Circus Extended

Big Professional Show Will Be Repeated Thursday Night For Welfare Fund

HIGH CLASS ACTS COMPRISE EXHIBIT
Because of the inclement weather last evening and the popular demand that the big Legion of Honor circus be extended one more evening, the show will close on Thursday evening instead of this evening as had been originally intended.

The receipts from last evening's performance will be turned into the welfare fund of the Legion of Honor. The circus has been the talk of the town, and is one of the highest class productions of its kind ever seen here. It is not an amateur show, but comprises 18 big acts taken from the summer circuses, and assembled to form an evening's vaudeville program of the highest caliber.

Many people have already attended, and will be glad to know that they can have another opportunity of seeing the show. There will be no reserved seat sale on the last night, and special prices will prevail for the children, the Legion of Honor committee stated today. The public is invited to come and see who will get the new Plymouth car on Thursday evening.

Bill Swift Will Hurl For Pirates In Opening Game

Cincinnati Will Send Si Johnson To Mound To Oppose Pittsburghers

RAIN IN EAST MAY SPOIL GAMES

(International News Service)
CINCINNATI, O., April 12.—The day dawned fair and cool today for the opening game here between the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates at Redland Field.

The Pirates were the popular favorites to take the local team over the jumps.

Because of his showing in the final exhibition games of the train period, Si Johnson has been selected to start for Cincinnati. Bill Swift, clever right-hander, will bill for the Pirates.

Crowder And Earnshaw
Washington, April 12.—Cornelius McGillicuddy brought a lot of young men down from Philadelphia today, but instead of taking part in the ceremony of opening the 1933 baseball season with Clark Griffith's Senators, the lads probably will watch the rain from their locker rooms.

In case the water is turned off the playing field, General Alvin Crowder will do the flipping for the home folks. Old McGillicuddy, as usual, hasn't nominated his pitcher, but it is believed George Earnshaw, the reformed pennant position predictor, will get the call over Robert Moses Grove, leading left handed citizen of Lonaconing, Md.

Moore And Clark
Philadelphia, April 12.—Rain clouds threatened to spoil the National league opener between the Phillies and Brooklyn Dodgers at Baker Bowl this afternoon.

Austin "Cy" Moore, was slated to pitch for the Phillies with Davis catching.

Clark and Lopez was the Brooklyn battery nomination.

Betts And Hubbell
Boston, April 12.—With the weather man predicting showers, the outlook for the Major league baseball opening between the Boston Braves and New York Giants here this afternoon was a gloomy one.

"Huck" Betts and Shanty Hogan will be the Boston battery. Hubbell or Fitzsimmons will pitch for New York with Mancuso behind the bat.

Gomez And Andrews
New York, April 12.—A cold drizzle that fell throughout the night and into the morning threatened to wash out the opening of the New York Yankees against the Boston Red Sox at Yankee stadium this afternoon. If the weather clears, Vernon (Lefty) Gomez will pitch for New York with Ivy Andrews on the mound for the Sox.

Warneke And Dean
Chicago, April 12.—Some 25,000 fans are expected at Wrigley Field today when the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals open the fifty-eighth National league season hostilities here. Clear skies and warming temperatures were predicted for this afternoon.

Lon Warneke slated to pitch for the Cubs, will oppose the loquacious Dizzy Dean.

Brown And Bridges
Detroit, April 12.—With Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner among the fans, the Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers open the 1933 American league season on Navin Field here this afternoon.

The weather forecast was fair and colder, with an attendance of around 10,000 anticipated.

Hope To Remove Bass From Shenango River

Will Be Placed In Neshannock Creek If Proposal Is Granted

WILL TRAP RABBITS TO SAVE GARDENS

Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will ask the Pennsylvania state fish commission for permission to remove bass from the Shenango river and place them in the Neshannock creek, according to action taken last night when the association and affiliated branches met at the Elks club.

The meeting was attended by approximately 150 members. The session was in charge of President Andrew Dadds. It was the last association meeting prior to the opening of the trout season, Saturday, April 15.

The sportsmen went on record as opposing the commercialization of crabs and helgramites and passed a resolution to be sent to the legislature requesting that a limit be placed on the number of helgramites and crabs allowed to be taken from streams. Commercialization of crabs was attacked at the last sportsmen's meeting also.

Charles Withers suggested that every effort be used to secure a bass hatchery for western Pennsylvania. There is only one in western Pennsylvania. It is located at Pleasant Mount. The suggestion was well received and efforts toward this will be started.

Vernon Warfel, superintendent of the Jordan game farm, stated that incubators and brooders will be used and hens abandoned for the hatching and rearing of birds. He said that this has proved successful and tended to eliminate sickness among birds.

The association adopted a motion by which it will secure traps and place them in the custody of the game wardens. They will be used to trap rabbits within the city so that gardens will not be destroyed by rabbits which may be in the vicinity.

Robert L. Wallace gave an address on sportsmanship. He has long been identified with hunting and fishing and his address was well received.

Corbett Mitchell, tree of the Shenango Valley association, John Mason of the Hillsville club and Mike Krepaly of the West Pittsburg club spoke.

Motion pictures secured from the Pennsylvania game commission showed animal and bird life. It was enjoyed by the sportsmen.

And now that the sportsmen and those who are not members are preparing to go trout fishing Saturday here are the streams where the wary trout and fishermen can play hide and seek:

Deer creek, Big run, Slippery Rock and Harlansburg and Ellwood City, Elliott run, Hettensbaugh run and both branches of the Little Neshannock.

Heavy Damage For Accident Is Asked

Suit Of Christine Bausman Against Robert A. Nicholson Scheduled

The case of Christine Bausman of this city against Robert A. Nicholson, formerly of New Castle, but now of Decatur, Ill., is scheduled for trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand today.

Plaintiff is suing for $27,054.50 damages for injuries sustained in an automobile accident. According to her statement of claim she was walking east on the north side of Lawrence street between South Jefferson street and South Beaver street. The Nicholson car was parked on Lawrence street.

As Miss Bausman was about opposite the car Nicholson got in and started the motor. The car was put in reverse gear and as it was backing the door struck the plaintiff.

She claims that Nicholson drove away without stopping and did not report the accident to police headquarters. Miss Nicholson had her hip broken and was otherwise injured. She spent 76 days in the New Castle hospital and claims to have been permanently injured.

Before the accident she was employed at the Castleton hotel.

Neff Defense Moving Slowly At Youngstown

Defense Counsel Seeks To Combat Allegations Of Discord In Married Life

MANY WITNESSES ARE BEING CALLED

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 12.—Pulling the trigger could not have fired the shot that killed Mrs. Blanche Neff, Cleveland police department Ballistic Expert David L. Cowles had said today when called as a defense witness in the trial of Cyrus H. Neff, Canfield merchant.

Cowles told the jury that he had fired a dozen shells from the shotgun which the state alleges was used in killing the woman. None, he said, was marked the same as the fatal shell. He testified that the markings obtained while "fanning" the gun, pulling the hammer back with his finger and releasing it, matched those of the fatal shell.

Couple Devoted

The ballistic expert said that he had been consulted by Prosecutor J. H. Lehighner in preparing the case, but had not been called after he submitted his full report.

Efforts to bolster the state's inference that there was discord between the Neffs were made when defense witnesses told that the couple had seemed very devoted.

Mrs. Marjorie Whittle, Neff's daughter by his first marriage, told the jury that her father had sobbed to her the night of the shooting that she was an accident. She was questioned about her father's divorce, but was unable to give details.

Defense attorneys announced today that Miss Alice Overholzer, Neff's attorney, would be called to the stand later today to combat charges made by a state witness that he found the girl with her arms around Neff's neck.

Klafter Case Still On Trial At Court

The case of Gilbert E. Long, trustee in bankruptcy for Samuel Klafter against Samuel and Bertha Klafter, which was taken up before Judge James A. Chambers at court yesterday is still on trial today.

The case involves the transfer of property by Klafter to his wife previous to going into bankruptcy. Mr. Klafter was forced into bankruptcy by the failure of a Youngstown bank in which he held stock.

It is claimed by the defendant that the transfer of the property involved was made some five months before the bank failed. Considerable testimony regarding the failure of the bank and the notices that were sent to stockholders, was introduced at this forenoon's session of court.

New 'Federal Building' To House U.S. Branches

Post Office Upper Floor Set Aside For Department Operations

WILL CENTRALIZE SCATTERED UNITS

When perplexed New Castle residents wish to find light in tabulating income tax returns, or citizens wish to take a civil service board exam, wish to enlist in the U. S. army or navy or wish to contact a spokesman of the U. S. labor or agriculture departments—well, if he wants to buy stamps, too—it will be to just one stately stone building—'till be the "federal building," if you please, when it's finished—that he will go.

Instead of making calls at four or five different buildings, anyone who wishes to transact business can go to the public square for service under one roof. That's indicated in the architect's plans for the new building under way.

Devoted To U. S. Work
Floor areas, it is said, were carefully estimated by the various departments before the specifications were approved. Ample space is to be provided for each.

The post office will occupy the basement, the first floor and a part of the second floor, according to the building plans. Officials will occupy conveniently located offices, space for which has been set aside.

New Castle has never claimed what one could accurately refer to as a federal building, even though the post office is government-owned. After the new building's completion, that name would be the one most applicable.

Compared with new government structures opened in neighboring cities of this size, New Castle's building will rank with the best of them. Its classic design will add a most imposing complex to the public square.

Economy Program Is Pushed Along

Program Resulting From Recommendations Of Sterling Finance Committee Rushed

HOPE TO SAVE
SIX MILLIONS

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 12.—The Economy program resulting from recommendations of the Sterling Finance committee was rushed toward enactment today as approximately 15 bills appeared on the senate calendar for second reading. The bills provide for savings aggregating approximately $6,000,000 by reducing salaries, increasing certain fees, and transferring the functions of various departments. The savings are to be employed as one of the revenue raising schemes for financing the unemployment relief appropriations.

As it is, men like Shaw and Priestly and others of the same ilk feel that it is the smart thing to do to give out nasty statements about America before they have passed the Statue of Liberty. Because they are the writers they are, we have been foolish enough to expect good manners from them. After all it makes small difference to a man in Kansas what George Bernard Shaw thinks of us.

Flip McNahy has perfected a new method of fishing, not patented, and judging from the trout, guaranteed to produce results. It's known as the McNahy method and can be used only with an automobile.

Flip and Bill Moore went fishing Tuesday, up around Neshannock Falls. A hat full of chubs was their reward for whipping the Neshannock and by the time it started to rain in the afternoon they shoved off for home. At Walkers Mills they pulled up to a stop to wait for the rain to ease off when McNahy noticed they were close to the waters' edge, and the water looked like good fishing.

With a keen eye and a practiced wrist, Flip cast his line into the water and inside of five minutes had four chubs landed inside the car. "It's a gift," said McNahy modestly as he described the swish of the line and the plop of the chub as it hit the nineteen dollar lining of the car.

He is now working on a rubber cover for automobiles which will enable fishermen to drive their cars out into the middle of a stream for the purpose of getting fish. In order to get the car used to such treatment, the crank case would be filled with cod liver oil.

Some of the highway men employed on the repairing of East Washington street are wondering just what happened to the cement, if there ever was any, under the bricks. It was assumed that the bricks had been laid in a concrete shell, much like putting stewed apples in a pie crust, but the concrete seems to have disappeared.

That may be the reason for the bricks sinking as they have done, causing no end of grief among motorists. The bricks themselves are good, most of them can be used again, but laying them in sand is a good way to be sure they'll have to be laid again.

All this hubbub about George Bernard Shaw is slightly amusing. If the old boy doesn't want to be interviewed, why not leave him alone. The worst possible treatment of him would be the silence. Apparently he doesn't care what people say about him, just so they mention his name.
